The Israelites were unable to capture the fortified towns of the plains during the early period of settlement.

Part of the tribe of Dan, unable to secure its inheritance, migrated north and captured Lash, renaming it Dan.

Although all of Bashan was assigned to the half tribe of Manasseh, it is doubtful that settlement reached beyond the Yarmuk Valley.

The Israelites were under constant attack from Philistine invaders who occupied the coastal area of about this time.

During the period of Judges, invading Ammonites, Moabites and Midianites were repulsed by the Israelites.

The cities assigned to Simeon were also a part of the inheritance of Judah. Simeon as a tribe was later absorbed by Judah.

The priestly tribe of Levi did not receive a definite territory but instead was allotted 48 cities distributed over the tribal areas.
